Work Differently

The Upwork Marks are among our most valuable assets. In order to preserve and strengthen our identity, these Guidelines provide conditions of use and clear instructions on proper use of the Upwork Marks.

2. USE OF UPWORK LOGO MARKS

The Upwork Marks that are also logos are also referred to in these Guidelines as the “Upwork Logo Marks”. For example, the Upwork Logo Marks include:

You may not use an Upwork Logo Mark unless you have a written license, granted by Upwork, permitting you to use the Upwork Logo Mark. If you have not been granted such a license, then you must not use, copy, modify, distribute, or post the Upwork Logo Mark for any reason. If you have such a license from Upwork Logo Mark to use the Upwork Logo Mark, you must use the Upwork Logo Mark only as licensed and only in accordance with these Guidelines.

3. USE OF OTHER UPWORK MARKS

You may use Upwork Marks other than the Logo Marks descriptively, provided you adhere to these Guidelines, or as otherwise permitted by law.

Descriptive use includes instances where you are referring to Upwork or Upwork services, such as “I registered on Upwork’s website today”, “I attended Upwork’s Work Without Limits Executive Summit”, or “Upwork Enterprise services have saved my company money.”

Keep these principles in mind as well:

- Your use should never mislead anyone to believe Upwork sponsorship, affiliation, or endorsement of your company, products, or services exists when it does not.
- When referring to Upwork, use the Upwork name in a plain text font and format only.
- Upwork always appears as "Upwork," never as "UpWork", "UPWork", "upwork", or "UPwork".

4. PROHIBITED USE OF UPWORK MARKS

Unless you have written permission from Upwork, you must never use any Upwork Mark:

- On any letterhead, business card, or signature block;
- As part of your business name or a domain name;
- As part of a user ID, including on Upwork or social media;
- In association with any third-party trademark in a manner that might create potential confusion as to the ownership of the Upwork Mark;
- In any manner that suggests or could lead someone to believe you are acting on behalf of or in association with Upwork or that Upwork has endorsed or sponsored your product or services; or
- Outside of your relationship with us, except as permitted by Upwork in writing.

Even if you have permission to use an Upwork Logo Mark, you must never use any Upwork Logo Mark:

- That has been reproduced from an unauthorized artwork;
- That has been modified, including color specifications, position and relative size of the letterings;
- That has been modified to use negative or reverse "drop-out" reproduction;
- Tightly confined in a band or bar; or
- With other seals, logos, or other marks of other entities.
